LABOR LEADERS ARE FATALLY HURT IN BLAST

AUTOMOBILE IS BLOWN UP IN MYSTERIOUS WAY

Cleveland Men in Cleveland
Hospitals—Six Others
Are Injured

Cleveland, O., May 1.—William O'Brien 40, secretary of the Building Trades Council of Cleveland, and second vice president of the International Sheet Metal Workers' Union and Joseph Nestor, 50, business agent of the Sheet Metal Workers' Union, are at the point of death today in Cleveland hospitals, while six others including a woman, were less seriously injured, the result of an explosion that wrecked a seven passenger auto and rocked buildings and broke plate glass windows for blocks in Euclid avenue last night.

The union officials had been attending a meeting at Labor Temple. As they climbed into the auto O'Brien, in the driver's seat, pressed his foot on the starter. There was a deafening noise, as the explosive—probably nitroglycerin—let go. The auto was wrecked, the radiator hurtling high in the air and the men in the car were blown to the ground by the force of the blast. Among the injured were three pedestrians.

Police believe that enemies of the labor leaders placed the explosive in the car while they were inside the hall, and attached it with wires to the battery.

Hospital authorities held out little hope for either O'Brien or Nestor. Police today admitted they were without a tangible clue to identity of the bombers. They discredited a statement made by Mrs. Nestor, summoned to her husband's bedside, who said last night:

"I know who put the bomb in the car. I have been expecting it for some time."

That labor trouble of some kind was responsible for the bombing was believed by police.

O'Brien, prominent in labor circles, came to Cleveland twelve years ago from Chicago.

WORK OF REMOVING BODIES FROM MINE
RESUMED THURSDAY

Wheeling, W. Va., May 1.—Difficulties, encountered again late yesterday with gas in the ill-fated mine of the Wheeling Steel Corporation at Benwood that delayed rescue of bodies, was declared this morning to have been successfully combated. At almost any moment it was stated rescuers were expected to enter the number 8 entry, where fifty-five men had been assigned to work the morning of the blast and begin the work of bringing to the surface the dead from that part of the workings.

This morning forty-seven bodies had been brought to the surface, two more were ready to be hoisted and after the number 8 entry was reached by rescuers expectations were for a steady stream of corpses to the morgue opened yesterday evening in Benwood.

The bodies of thirty-six dead today had been removed from the morgue and today funeral services are being conducted for them. In the number of dead are two sets of brothers and double graves will receive them in Mount Calvary Cemetery.

The body of Fire Boss M. V. Heron, is to be sent to Monongahela City, Pa., for interment. Among the bodies taken out last night was that of Russell Williams, of St. Louis, until a few months ago a member of the U. S. mine car rescue service with a fifteen-year record.

State Mine Chief R. M. Lample has ordered three more mine rescue teams here from southern West Virginia to aid the rescuers, and in contrast with announcement yesterday that all bodies were expected to be found during the day, it is now stated that it will be next week before rescue work is completed.

DONAHEY OPPOSES
INDIRECT TAXATION

Columbus, O., May 1.—Governor Donahey was on record today as opposing further indirect taxation, gambling in the necessities of life and with being in favor of aiding prisoners who accept their incarceration in the "proper mental attitude."

In a speech last night at the First English Lutheran Church here the governor also recommended abolishment of conflicting systems of government and "a return to old fashioned discipline in the home."

EVERY CLOUD HAS MUSHROOM LINING

Many mouths are expected to "water" after reading this story. One Xenia mushroom hunter found fifty dozen of the fungus on the outskirts of the city Wednesday morning. The quantity which is sufficient to cover several juicy steaks, was found by "Peggy" Seldombridge, after the hard rain that caused the delicacy to spring from the ground. Who was it that said "every cloud has a silver lining?"

START SEARCH FOR U. S. FLYER REPORTED LOST

Fears Expressed For Safety of Major
F. L. Martin.

Cordova, Alaska, May 1.—A far flung search was started in Alaskan waters today for Major Frederick L. Martin, and his round-the-world flag plane Seattle.

The commander of the American army flyers has not been heard from since he hopped off from Chignik at 11:10 a. m. (Alaskan time) Wednesday in an effort to reach Dutch Harbor where his three flying companions have been awaiting his arrival for two weeks.

Major Martin took off under most unfavorable circumstances and the weather conditions today were unimproved.

Gales with heavy snowfall were reported along his route to Dutch Harbor. News that he was missing was broadcast by radio and the coast guard cutter Haida at Dutch Harbor ordered to proceed along the route taken by the flyer in an effort to locate him.

Alaskan fishing vessels were said to be on the lookout for the big plane and all of the meager means of communication in the isolated section were brought into use in an effort to secure some trace of the flyer.

Because of the long delay occasioned by his being marooned at Kanakak following a forced landing in Portage Bay and further delays at Chignik, due to bad weather, Major Martin determined yesterday to make the attempt to reach Dutch Harbor in the face of adverse weather conditions.

His hop-off scheduled for early morning was delayed until 11:10 in the hopes of improved flying weather. Decision was finally made to take off. Soon after the start was made, a blizzard developed.

CRABBE REFUSES TO REPRESENT HEAD OF GAME ASSOCIATION

Columbus, May 1.—A new clash between state officials was disclosed when correspondence between Attorney General Crabbe and D. O. Thompson, head of the fish and game division, was made public. The correspondence is over the appeal of Newton Blizard, deputy game warden, from a removal order issued by Thompson for alleged insubordination and inefficiency. Blizard appealed to the state civil service commission. Thompson asked the attorney general to represent his department. Crabbe wrote Thompson declining to represent him, because Thompson had refused to furnish the department with his evidence against Blizard. Thompson, in reply, declared he had expected this action and that he had suspected the attorney general's department of planning to "double-cross" him in the case.

WATSON SUIT IS HEARD IN CAPITAL

Columbus, May 1.—Hearing of the mandamus suit brought by James Watkins, ousted last August by Governor Donahey as chief of police of Youngstown, against the chief executive, seeking reinstatement, was started in the supreme court. The mandamus suit is the culmination of a long fight by Watkins to compel Donahey to reinstate him. He was removed because of alleged laxness in enforcing laws, particularly those concerning prohibition.

REPORT SCORES ACTIVITIES OF JUSTICE COURTS

Crabbe Delves Into Manner in Which Prohibition
Is Enforced

Columbus, O., May 1.—A typewritten report tossed in the mass of correspondence on the desk of Attorney General Crabbe today, tells of the activities of the courts of justice of the peace.

The report deals only with those courts in Lucas County, but Attorney General Crabbe has often said that the conditions there are no different from those which exist in other counties of the state.

Following the complaint of Federal Judge Killitts, Toledo, Attorney General Crabbe instituted an investigation into the manner in which the prohibition laws were being enforced in Lucas County. He sent Attorney H. H. Griswold, of his own staff, accompanied by two members of the auditing department of the state to Lucas County.

Griswold reported today to the attorney general. He gave no names in the cases specified, for those are in the hands of the county prosecutor of Lucas County. But the instances of the prostitution of law, in order that justices of the peace and other officers might make money under the Crabbe act, were sufficiently interesting without names.

Offhand the report tells of such instances as these:

Ten out of 21 justices courts in Lucas County disposed of 3,128 cases since jurisdiction was conferred upon these courts for offenses committed within the city limits of Toledo.

"Of these cases, one justice alone handled 1,351, or 42.9 per cent of the total; one justice handled 397, or 29.1 per cent of the total. One justice handled 335 or 12.3 per cent of the total—leaving 495 cases, or 15.7 per cent of the total disposed of by the other seven justices.

The following figures—compiled by Judge C. C. Tuttle, assistant state examiner, from the records of one justice court alone, are significant as indicating the extent of business done and the large ratio of the costs to the fines.

In one justices court, 1,270 cases were tried and $43,254.50 in costs assessed as compared to but $157,400 in fines.

The costs were distributed in the following way among the justice and the employees of the court:

Justice $10,271.30
Constable (papers and mileage) $11,555.20
Assistants $6,287.55
Transporting prisoners $6,193.50
Transporting evidence $7,410.75
Interpreter $201.00
With incidentals, this distribution totaled $43,354.80 while the total of fines imposed was only $157,400, of which $81,993 were collected, $22,932 suspended, and $50,379.45 uncollected, with $2,200 in jail fines.

DEMOCRATS ARE IN FOR LONG DEADLOCK AT CONVENTION

Washington, May 1.—The Democratic national convention which meets in New York eight weeks hence is for a protracted period of deadlock and intensive, bitter struggle such as has been witnessed at few, if any, of democracy's hectic conventions of the past.

This was a well nigh unanimous opinion prevailing in high Democratic headquarters in the capital today as a result of the developments that have crystallized with amazing rapidity since the sudden and dramatic death a week ago of Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall.

Two weeks ago, Democratic leaders were merely fearful they were in for a rough time at Madison Square Garden. Now they are sure of it.

For the first time since the whippers of Governor Al Smith's candidacy began to be heard, Democratic leaders of all factions were disposed to take it with real seriousness.

The formation of a Smith organization, headed by Franklin D. Roosevelt, a "Wilson Democrat," and one of the few men who ever fought Murphy and got away with it, provided the complainant Democrats of other factions with worries today.

PROHIBITION AGENT SURRENDERS TO FEDERAL OFFICERS

Cleveland, May 1.—Thomas Hines, a general prohibition agent working out of New York and Washington, surrendered to federal authorities here today to answer to an indictment charging him with conspiracy to violate the federal prohibition law, through an alleged conspiracy to manufacture and sell beer throughout northern Ohio.

Judge Paul E. Jones fixed his bond at $10,000 and he was remanded to jail until this could be furnished.

PRINCIPALS IN ALLEGED POISONING IN NEW YORK.

It is said that the defense of Clarence O. Baring, New York representative of the Minneapolis Heat Regulator Company, under arrest in White Plains, N. Y., on the charge that he tried to poison his wife with arsenic and to kill her with deadly disease germs, will be insanity. He declares he tried to make his wealthy wife, nine years his senior, ill, so that he could send her to California and thus have an opportunity to break off a love affair he had with another woman.

May Day Passes Quietly With Practically No Demonstrations Of Serious Nature

May Day recognized day for socialists demonstrations, passed comparatively quietly everywhere.

A bomb explosion took place in Paris during a meeting of the Paris branch of the Italian fascisti and a woman was injured.

A few workers in Paris observed the day with a temporary strike.

Mounted police in Berlin broke up an attempted communist meeting.

In Madrid special police precautions were taken to prevent agitators from causing strikes.

Special police precautions were taken in New York with guards about banks, churches and homes of well known rich men.

May Day in London passed off quietly as a holiday.

By JAMES J. DAVIS
Secretary of Labor

Washington, May 1.—For some time past it has been apparent that the industrial horizon of the world is slowly brightening, but our own people today are proud to be able to acclaim that America is "Queen of the May."

In practically all lines in the United States "May Day" dawned upon a peaceful industrial relationship existing between employer and employee.

The American workman has cause to be happy and contented. Building tradesmen in all our principal cities are steadily employed at good wages. Petty grievances are being ironed out and in many instances, wage agreements have been signed for periods longer than a year. These interests are working out satisfactory, contracts and a great building program is going forward throughout the country.

Coal production promises to improve from month to month. A three year wage agreement recently signed eliminates the possibility of any serious strikes in the soft fields for that period, and the anthracite agreement assures peace in that branch of the industry for nearly two years.

Practically all of the railway differences have been settled and today there is only an occasional road on which the shopcraft strike of 1922 has not been terminated.

Here and there may be found slight industrial differences between employers and employees but none of these is of more than local significance. As secretary of labor, it is a great satisfaction.

CHARGE IS MADE BY NORRIS IN EAST

Washington, May 1.—Chairman Norris charged at the senate agricultural committee's hearing on Muscle Shoals legislation that W. G. Waldo, secretary of the Tennessee Improvement association, who was testifying, was appearing before the committee "under false covers." Norris declared that Waldo, though appearing for the association, was really representing Henry Ford.

"Ford must have had 'some reason' for changing from a feeling of animosity toward the administration to one of friendliness," Norris had previously charged before the committee.

Norris said Ford issued "a cutting statement" against the administration on Oct. 12, but after a call on President Coolidge and Secretary Weeks on Dec. 3 "his attitude reversed." "It is almost inconceivable," Norris declared, "that Ford should change his attitude unless he had some reason."

Norris read a telegram from James Martin Miller to Earnest Liebold, Ford's secretary, to "clear up Miller's employment by Ford," he said. The message was sent by Miller on Oct. 12, 1923, explaining that the president "expected to have considerable to say about Muscle Shoals at newspaper conferences."

VOTE FOR DEAD PUBLISHER

Youngstown, O., May 1.—William F. Maag, publisher of the Vindicator who died after his name had been placed on the primary ballot as a candidate for delegate to the state Democratic convention, received 632 votes. His son, William F. Maag, Jr., was elected state delegate with 1,179 votes.

FIVE HUNDRED INJURED—LOSS TEN MILLIONS

Big Cyclonic Disturbance
Leaves Death and Destruction in Wake.

Atlanta, Ga., May 1.—A path of death and destruction littered with 100 lifeless forms, more than 500 injured, and damaged property conservatively estimated at $10,000,000 today stretched for one thousand miles across the Southland, representing one of the most disastrous storms in the history of the southern states.

Many of the injured are at the point of death, while more than a dozen are reported as missing in the six states which were swept by the cyclonic disturbances.

Indications were that the casualty list would be swelled considerably before nightfall.

The cyclone, which first was reported at Texarkana Tuesday night, became more severe as it travelled eastward and claimed its heaviest toll near the end of its destructive journey in South Carolina, where reports have it that sixty nine persons were killed.

Spent in its fury, the storm then touched a section near Durham, N. C., where three lost their lives and several others were expected to die.

Georgia and Alabama suffered most next to South Carolina, thirteen being killed in Georgia, thirteen in Alabama, and twelve in Alabama. One person was killed in Arkansas, one in Louisiana and still another in Oklahoma.

As demoralized telegraphic communications were restored today additional counts of the storm's ravages were received. It was believed at southern headquarters of the Red Cross corps at Atlanta that a complete casualty list and a corrected estimate of the storm's damage will not be available for several days.

Red Cross emergency workers have been rushed to those points where suffering was said to be the worst.

Several little towns in Georgia, Alabama and South Carolina were virtually in ruins today while many rural sections were completely annihilated. Most of the victims were residents of small communities. Although an edge of the cyclone swept through Atlanta, causing heavy property loss, comparatively small damage was reported from large southern cities. A small community near Macon was destroyed at the cost of four lives and many injured but the city proper was not struck, as was the case of Spartanburg, S. C. and Durham, N. C.

Late advices are to the effect that nine people were killed in Anderson, S. C., and another killed when a house was blown down near Spartanburg. The entire village of Riverside Mills, a part of Anderson, was wrecked. A large cotton mill at Anderson was blown down. Four negroes were killed at Opelika, Ala. Four were injured at Greenville, Ala., and property damage amounts to $150,000.

A tornado killed a woman at Ingalls, Okla.; a 5-year-old boy at Texarkana, Tex., while at Wichita Falls, Tex., the wind, blowing over the slide on a playground, brought death to an 8-year-old girl.

Hail and lightning accompanied the wind storm at Atlanta, where the property damage is estimated at $100,000. The storm has swollen many rivers to flood stage. A hail storm preceded a heavy wind, which reached tornado proportions, ruining young crops.

Twenty-five persons are reported to have lost their lives in Horrell Hill section, near Columbia, S. C., as a result of a tornado, which wrecked Horrell Hill school and swept through the county.

Advices were received at Camden, S. C., that 19 or 11 persons were killed and 35 injured by a tornado in the vicinity of Dalzell and Horatio, two small towns between Sumter and Camden. A tornado in the outskirts of Koolie, Ala., killed two negroes. Two white persons and a number of negroes were injured.

South of Macon, Ga., three persons were killed, more than a dozen injured and heavy property damage reported. Six were injured at Lawrenceville, Ga., and $300,000 property damage caused.

Other reports received here told of deaths in Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana and Arkansas. At Opelika, Ala., four persons were killed and five injured. At Welch, Ala., one woman was killed, another injured and an infant blown away.

UP TO CONGRESS

Washington, May 1.—Secretary of War Weeks declared that instead of being opposed to leasing Muscle Shoals to civilians, he was heartily in favor of it, but that he knew the United States could get more for the big wartime project than any offer that had yet been made. "The leasing of Muscle Shoals to Henry Ford or any other persons or firm is entirely in the hands of congress," he said.

DAYLIGHT SAVING FAVORED BY KIWANIS

D. D. Jones and C. A. Bone were in charge of the club program, following dinner. Ten attendance cards were chosen from the club group, and each of the chosen men was presented an envelope containing a "stunt" suggestion. Tales of "their most thrilling experiences" and other efforts on the part of the members to entertain the club, proved highly amusing.

A group of men from Washington C. H., will visit the club next Wednesday. Washington business men are contemplating the formation of a Kiwanis Club there.

Dial, Democrat, of South Carolina, bitterly opposed the Senate bill appropriating $10,000,000 for the relief of German women and children, asserting American workers would not approve giving their money to the nation that started the World War, adding "The resolution, indefensible, is intended to buy German votes."

Covers for nearly one hundred were laid at the dinner, which was appointed in green and white the class colors. The school flower, the violet was prominently used in the decorations and baskets of the flowers were placed about the table.

The dinner was served in the school gymnasium, at six o'clock. Mrs. S. J. Russell, teacher of the Home Economics Department, acted as toast mistress. The welcome toast was given by Miss Ivanell Voelker, with the response by Mrs. Dora Jones. Other toast were given by Professor A. F. Roush, Mrs. Harry Mossman, Miss Vera Crites, the principal; Miss Mary Ritenour, "To The Parents," and by Mr. Millard Ritenour, "From The Parents." Miss Rebecca Marsh sang two solos. A series of amusing "stunts" was given.

Herbert Smith and Ralph Cummings, seniors, were hosts to the members of their class and the school faculty at the Smith home. The class of blue and gold were used in decorating the Smith home, and the refreshment course served, also carried out the colors. Ice cream, cake, hot chocolate and mints were served. Harry is thinking hard. He has a business appointment at two and a social engagement at three. What can he wear that will suit both occasions? You see him pondering the matter. Several new socks are hung out for inspection—silk ones with embroidered edges.

This is the proper waistcoat—short to go with the new high waisted trousers. Notice the slightly rounded lapels. The handkerchiefs are of fine Irish linen and of sheer French cotton made with rolled, hand sewn edges.

Then a tie—which tie? They are all good, being of English twill foulards with small, distinct patterns and very smart in their coloring. Time is flying but Harry is not to be hurried in his dressing. He will wear—

Dark grey coat and waistcoat with striped worsted trousers. He is correct for both engagements—business and social. It's mere detail that he is too late for either one of them. The important thing is to be properly dressed—there'll always be some one to admire!

CIVIL SERVICE LAWS

By John T. Adams

Chairman of the Republican National Committee

No administration since civil service laws were enacted has more scrupulously observed those laws than the present Republican administration.

No better proof of this can be offered than the records of the United States Civil Service commission, which show the departments at Washington still have thousands of Democrats appointed under the Wilson administration. Not a Democratic state of "solid South" but has far more than its fair proportion of appointees on the federal payroll.

The scandal, if there is a scandal in this connection, lies in the fact that a great majority of these Democrats were appointed to offices purely for political reasons without being compelled to take any civil service tests.

This was done during the war, when the Democratic Congress suspended the civil service regulations. During that suspension Democrats filled the departments with tens of thousands of political henchmen. Then all these appointees were brought under civil service by an executive order and thus protected in their jobs.

There never has been an administration that so flagrantly disregarded civil service as the Wilson administration. During the eight years the Democrats were in control civil service laws were suspended, manipulated and openly and illegally disregarded in order that Democratic cabinet officers, bureau chiefs and Democratic politicians in the various states could get their friends located in government jobs.

The crowning disgrace and greatest scandal ever connected with the civil service administration took place in 1919 when President Wilson, enraged because the United States Civil Service commission would not violate the laws in order to please Democratic politicians, fired the majority of the commission and replaced them with men who were pliant to the desires of Democratic spoilsmen.

The record of the last three years disproves the charges that this administration has violated the principles of civil service and filled the public offices with those unfit and unqualified for the work to be done.

The purpose of civil service is to insure the selection of public employes upon their merits as to character and ability. It can be truthfully stated that this has been done by the Republican administration. The personnel of appointments made has been unusually high, and the work done by the appointees has been exceptionally well performed.

Because a small picture of Mr. Adams, a fine looking middle aged man, has been published weekly in the "National Republican," Washington, the party organ, in connection with his articles, it has been inferred by some persons that Mr. Adams was simply a Washington City office holder, only this and nothing more, and let it go at that—which does not carry much political influence. We think his weekly articles will be more fully appreciated, if it is understood that he is simply a Republican business man, like the rest of us, far from the capital, trying to influence voters to the side for the best interest of the country as we see them. So, the fact is that Mr. Adams has never lived in Washington, but is a Dubuque, Iowa business man, member of the firm of Carr, Rider and Adams, sash and door manufacturers since 1881. And also a very influential Iowa Republican. He was manager of the Taft campaign in 1912. The University of Dubuque gave him L. L. D. which certainly shows appreciation of worth. So when you read anything that he has written you are to feel that the words come not simply from a politician but from a reputable business man trying to have his country stand where Abraham Lincoln and a host of other good presidents have felt should. We are sure that what he says in the foregoing article can be substantiated.

STEADY GROWTH OF OUR FOREIGN TRADE

Notwithstanding the claims of the free traders and low tariff men, in their desperate efforts to head off the Fordney-McCumber tariff of 1922, to the effect that we are a creditor nation, and can not afford to increase import duties since it would kill our foreign trade, our foreign trade has steadily increased.

Reports from the Department of Commerce show that during the calendar year 1923 the United States exported merchandise valued at $4,208,000,000 and imported merchandise valued at $3,819,000,000, nevertheless the total balance of trade in favor of the United States was very small because of the invisible credits. In other words, the United States is rapidly reducing the vast credits due to the war, and soon may again become a debtor nation so far as leading commercial nations are concerned.

It is learned that invisible credits amounting to $1,612,000,000 were turned against the United States during this last year, thus changing a large favorable cash balance to a very small favorable cash balance. These invisible credits were payments of American tourists, payments for foreign shipping and services of one kind and another.

Protection will be needed more than ever to prevent what is now a small favorable balance from becoming a complete unfavorable balance.

If the United States merchant marine could be promoted so that this country would be independent of all other maritime countries in the carrying of ocean cargoes, this balance would be less against us. To accomplish this, protection of another form must be invoked.

Fashion forecasts tell us that this summer will find knitted and crocheted garments as popular as ever.

That means that the woman who cannot afford to buy made garments of this variety, will be busy with yarn and needles from now on.

There is more pleasure in knitting and crocheting if one has a pretty bag in which to keep one's work.

Indeed, some sort of bag is a necessity, and the woman who would like to equip herself with a new one could not do better than to make one of the new Circular Lap-Bags,

as follows:

A Knitting Bag that Costs One

Dollar: The idea of this new kind of bag is that it can be used wide open, on the lap, while a woman is knitting; it has a white lining, which protects the knitting from the knitter's dress skirt. Yet it hangs closed like any other bag, with the balls and needles in it, when the knitter is not at work.

It may of course be made of very cheap or very expensive materials—

so long as it is made in circular shape, with rings about the edges for the drawstrings to run through, and has a white lining. But I am going to describe a moderately priced bag of this style, giving approximate cost:

Buy three-quarters of a yard of flowered cretonne which costs about 40 cents a yard. Also buy three-quarters of a yard of 40-cent white soisette for the lining. Cut these two pieces of material into as large a circle as you can get out of that length material—that is, each circle will be 27 inches in diameter. Put the two circles together, the cretonne face inward, and sew them together one-fourth inch from the edge of goods, leaving a five-inch space unsewed. Now turn the large circle pocket inside out and begin to French the edge seam, by again stitching close to the edge all around. You must, of course, blind-stitch the part which you left unsewed because of the turnings.

Buy one dozen black bone rings.

These should cost ten cents a dozen.

Sew all 12 at even intervals around the extreme edge of the large disc of material. For drawstrings, buy three yards of black silk cording

(the narrow cording comes at ten cents a yard) and divide this into two pieces—a yard and a half for each drawstring.

Thus, the bag has cost exactly one dollar: cretonne, 30 cents. Soisette,

30 cents. Bone rings, 10 cents. Cording, 30 cents.

Today's Talks

SINGULAR

I have been reading a very interesting book, "The Life and Letters of Emily Dickinson."

It is filled with the strange and mystic thinking of a most remarkable

New England poet a woman who died more than 40 years ago.

Here is a striking sentence that I remember: "To be singular under plural circumstances is a becoming heroism."

To get the depth of that thought fully, I believe it well to get the best and most striking definition of the word singular. I looked it up in my dictionary, and decided that "extraordinary" expressed it best.

Now think it over—"To be extraordinary under plural circumstances is a becoming heroism."

To be extraordinary, you must stand alone, be unafraid, calm and strong.

The frightened stag, cornered, with guns leveled at him, is in the midst of plural circumstances indeed.

How often we find ourselves in a similar position. And how few of us are singular then!

A great New York paper is running a series of daily articles by famous men and women wherein each one explains his idea of God. I have been greatly interested in the variety of those ideas.

My idea of God is of one who comes to you and makes you strong—who gives to you simple singleness when you are placed in the midst of plural circumstances.

Just to look into the eyes of some people convinces you that they are extraordinary.

DAYTON PHYSICIAN TELLS POLICE HE WAS FIRED UPON

Dayton, O., May 1.—Dr. E. M. Cope of this city reported to the police that a score of shots were fired at him at Ebenezer, a village north of Dayton, when he refused to obey the command of three men to halt. Accompanied by his wife, Cope was driving toward Dayton. One tire was punctured by a bullet. Sheriff Howard Webster and Prosecuting Attorney Albert Sharrer are making a searching inquiry into the actions of constables and officers of the court of Squire A. L. Green at Ebenezer. No one was injured in the shooting.

PRACTICE IS HELD TO BE FORGERY

Columbus, May 1.—In a letter to Director of Public Welfare Harper, Attorney General Crabbe says the alleged "attempt to justify the action of the chief clerk of the institution for feeble-minded at Orient in indorsing checks of certain employees and withholding a portion of their money." Crabbe warns against a repetition of the "offense." He said: "You may recall that a short time ago an employee was sent to the Mansfield reformatory for forging the name of his superior to a state voucher. These cases are identical and any attempt to execute or mitigate only can lead to serious trouble. I appreciate that prosecutions can be had and the guilty punished, but it is certainly better to prevent this wrong than to permit it and chance the consequences." The incident referred to is alleged to involve the indorsement of the pay vouchers of James Hughes and Nannie Fleming without their consent and a portion of their money retained, a practice held to be "a plain case of forgery."

DESPERATE SEARCH FOR WOMAN STARTS

Detroit, Mich., May 1—A telegram sent yesterday from the central office of the Western Union summoned John Edwards, 741 North Union Street, Lima, O., to Detroit in a desperate search for his wife, Virginia, 24 years old.

Mrs. Edwards came into the telegraph office in a hysterical condition, her clothing and hair disarranged, and covered with grime and sent a collect message saying that she had been kidnapped Monday night by a man in an automobile and held captive until yesterday. She tossed the telegraph blank onto the counter and left before the receiving clerk read it. Her husband fears that she may have killed herself.

SENSATION SPRUNG BEFORE COMMITTEE

Washington, May 1—A sensation sprung before the Borah committee today when William W. Rhea, western oil man, charged Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Democrat of Montana, with promising to "fix up an old permit for a group of Montana law clients—an act which would violate federal statutes."

Rhea's testimony bore directly upon the charges which resulted in Wheeler's indictment by a federal grand jury in Montana.

Rhea charged that Gordon Campbell who handled the permit, agreed to pay Wheeler a "slice of profits," if the senator obtained it from the government.

SENATE AFFLICTED WITH PARALYSIS

Washington, May 1.—The U. S. Senate as a legislative body admitted total paralysis for a while today.

When Senator Cummins, the president pro tem, rapped for order at the opening days session, only a bare half dozen senators were present.

The absence of a quorum was suggested, but three roll calls and alarm bells sounding throughout the senate wing of the capitol, failed to bring in the absentees.

Sergeants at Arms finally were dispatched to rooms of the various investigating committees to stop the inquiries so that the senate could get to work.

FROST PREDICTED FOR OHIO THURSDAY

Columbus, O., May 1—Warning against probable frost in Ohio tonight was issued here today at the United States Weather Bureau. Although the weather bureau officials inclined to the belief that the frost generally will be light, they pointed out that, in exposed places along river valleys in northern and central Ohio there may be severe or killing frost, with the mercury approximating the freezing point. In the less exposed places, it was stated, the temperature tonight may range between 35 and 40 degrees.

DECLARES FALL STARTED POLICY

Washington, May 1—The policy of leasing large tracts of government oil lands to private interests was instituted by Albert B. Fall, as secretary of the Interior, although a number of leases for oil wells to protect the government against drainage were made by Ex-Secretary John Barton Payne, Assistant Secretary of the Interior. Finney today told the senate public lands committee.

GRAPHIC DESCRIPTION OF CONDITIONS IN CALIFORNIA CAUSED BY HOOF AND MOUTH DISEASE RELATED BY LOCAL LECTURER

Terrors of the hoof and mouth epidemic that is sweeping the cattle and stock ranches of California are told graphically by R. Hayes Hamilton, Xenia lecturer and author of the Hamilton Travelogues who returned to Xenia Wednesday after spending the winter in California.

Mr. Hamilton also brought back enlargements of photographs made with a small motion picture camera, that describe better than words the loss of property to cattle-men where herds have to be killed off to prevent the spread of the disease and the precautions taken to quarantine sections in which traces of it have been found. The pictures are on display at Sohn's drug store.

Newspaper dispatches out of the stricken section have not described the conditions as serious as they are, according to Mr. Hamilton, who declares that the cattle owners will suffer huge losses, the beef supply will be seriously curtailed and California's prestige as a tourist state this summer is threatened by the disease and the quarantines set up.

Officials of the state and federal government are working together in the effort to isolate the germ, trace it to its source and eradicate the disease. Efforts to trace the source of the epidemic, however, have so far not met with success. In order to stamp out the disease, whole herds are being slaughtered if one or more animals are found infected with the disease.

The disease itself, says Mr. Hamilton, is a form of leprosy, which attacks cloven-hoof animals, although the goat seems to be strangely immune. The foot of the stricken animal will rot and fall off, and by licking the sore member the animal conveys the germ to the tongue causing cankerous mouth and drooling that is one of the first evidences of the disease.

Immediately the herd in which the disease is found is isolated, and preparations made for the slaughter. Trench digging machines are used to excavate huge ditches, into which ranchmen corral the cattle. Then men Ranchers whose animals are shot are paid $40 by the state and $40 by the federal government per head, but as most of the stock is blooded, it is expected they will suffer severe losses and that at least the immense stock raising industry there will be seriously crippled. Mr. Hamilton lectured on the subject before the Rotary Club in Huntington, W. Va., Tuesday.

CHURCH DECIDES TO ERECT PARSONAGE BEHIND STRUCTURE

Definite decision to erect a parsonage was reached Wednesday night by members of the congregation of the First United Presbyterian Church at a special meeting.

Plans for the parsonage include erection of a residence, garage, walks and drive, the entire cost not to exceed $10,000. The parsonage will be built on property now owned by the congregation, in the rear of the Church but facing on Church Street, opposite the Greene County Library.

Trustees of the Church, with three women, to be named by woman members of the congregation, will act as the building committee make the final decisions on plans and specifications, employ workmen and supervise construction of the parsonage.

The congregational meeting Wednesday night was recessed until next Wednesday evening when the women will name their representatives and the congregation will vote to authorize the committee to provide funds to carry out the construction work.

LITTLE GIRLS SAVE CREW OF TRAIN

Pottsville, Penn., May 1—Hurrying through the darkness to warn of the danger of an obstructed track, Margaret Pillar and Evelyn Roger, both 10 years old, are given credit for having saved the lives of the crew of a coal train and prevented damage to rolling stock of the Reading Railroad last night.

The girls, when out picking flowers, near the Lincoln colliery, saw a sixty-foot tree lying on the tracks just at a curve on a steep embankment. The sun was setting and the girls knew the first train coming along would be wrecked. They ran for two miles to Rauch Creek, where they notified the clerk, H. S. Honsberger, of the danger. Honsberger informed the nearest train dispatcher and went to guard the danger spot with lanterns.

The crew of the first train which approached looked with a shudder at the steep sixty-foot ravine, down which they would have plunged had it not been for the efforts of the two little girls, who live at Rauch Creek.

TRUE ECONOMY

The old saying, "A Stitch in Time Saves Nine", is generally recognized as common sense logic.

In the case of wearing apparel many stitches and many dollars can be saved by having it dry-cleaned and repaired at the proper time.

Mendenhall's methods of dry-cleaning will make your wearing apparel look almost like new.

It needs expert care and attention to dry-clean and renovate expensive gowns and lightweight, filmy costumes of delicate shades.

Furs, Ribbons, Laces, Gloves and other furbelows can be made to look as bright and clean as the day they were first purchased.

Mendenhall guarantees faultless work and prompt service at reasonable prices.

DEFENDANT BLAMES GIRL FOR ACCIDENT

New York, May 1—Helene Jesmer, formerly of Seattle and former "Greenwich Village Follies" girl, was blamed by Philip Morgan Plant today for the automobile accident in which she was injured and which caused her to sue Plant for $500,000. Plant testified in his own defense.

The car, driven by Plant, crashed into a tree by a country road, other witnesses testified, and Miss Jesmer alleged she was incapacitated for further work, in addition to suffering painful injuries. Plant declared Miss Jesmer, who had been singing with others in the car, suddenly turned in the front seat and grasped the wheel, making it impossible for him to steer.

Plant is heir to an estate said to be valued at $15,000,000.

FLETCHER TOBACCO SHOP BOUGHT BY BERT BLAIR OF XENIA

The Fletcher tobacco shop, South Detroit Street, operated for years by William E. Fletcher has been sold to Bert Blair, well-known Xenian, who is assuming immediate possession of the business.

The transfer of interests marks a change in a landmark, as the business has been operated by Mr. Fletcher for eighteen years and has been one of the most popular businesses of its nature in the city.

Mr. Fletcher is selling out the business in order to retire from confining work because of his health. He has made no definite plans for the future, but expects to spend the summer outdoors as much as possible in order to regain his health, affected by indoor work.

He was employed in the business in the same location here before acquiring possession of it, and since that time has been in continuous charge of its operation.

The new owner was formerly in business in Xenia. He expects to operate the store on the same policy as in the past, with the exception of adding a light luncheon department to add to the soft drink business.

Joe Ary, who has been employed as clerk for five years, will continue under the new ownership.

GIVE SUGGESTIONS AS TO SEED CORN

Tests made at the seed corn testing station in Xenia indicate clearly that most crib corn is unfit for seed, that corn picked from the shock this spring is practically worthless, but that corn selected last fall and stored carefully will prove very satisfactory.

The throw-out for poor germination and disease at the Xenia Station averages between 30 and 40 per cent; the lowest throw out being 7 1-2 per cent, the highest 66 per cent.

The Stations at Alpha and Ross Township are also running under the management of the Smith-Hughes Agricultural teachers at those schools.

The work at the Xenia Station is being done by Fred R. Keeler and his students in the Agricultural classes at the Xenia Central High School.

FORD TO ERECT RAIL SHOPS

Springfield, O., May 1.—Option held by Henry Ford was exercised by his attorney, F. W. Black of Detroit, by which the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton railroad purchased the Johnson farm of 577 acres near South Charleston as a part of the tract desired for extensive improvements contemplated. This makes 1,297 acres purchased. Options have been taken on two other farms containing 585 acres. Shops, yards, etc., are to be erected on the properties.

Dark Teeth Bleached In Three Minutes

You have always longed for flashing white teeth. And now, at last you can have them—easily, quickly and safely! For scientists have discovered a remarkable new treatment which often in only three minutes bleaches dull dingy discolorations from the teeth, leaving them clear, sparkling white and lustrous. This new treatment, called Bleachodent Combination, consists of a mild safe liquid and a new kind of paste. The liquid curdles and softens the stains, while the paste removes them, and it used daily prevents the formation of future stains. You simply brush teeth with a few drops of the liquid—then use the paste. Almost before you realize it, unsightly surface stains disappear and the teeth take on a dazzling new whiteness and lustre. First application usually leaves teeth whiter than with ten times the scouring by old-fashioned methods. Bleachodent Combination is harmless—does not affect enamel as its mild ingredients are intended to act only on surface stains—not on enamel itself. Especially beneficial for children's teeth which stain easily. Get Bleachodent Combination today for a few cents. Be sure you ask for Bleachodent Combination. At all good dealers.

SICK WOMAN MADE HAPPY

Entirely Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mart, Texas.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to build me up as I was all run-down, nervous and sick. I ached and hurt all over so that I was often compelled to go to bed, and I had to have most of my work done. No medicine seemed to help me until one of my neighbors who was taking the Vegetable Compound insisted on me trying a bottle of it. The medicine helped me from the first, and the best of all is that I can even sew again without that awful, nervous feeling I was used to having. And I used to take crying spells, with such a blue feeling that I cannot explain. Now all that has left me. I feel so cheerful, and I have gained in weight, sleep well and eat hearty. Oh! I wish I had words to express what this medicine has done for me! I am a housekeeper and do everything from the sewing to the washing now and it doesn't hurt me. You may use my letter in any way you wish. I will be glad to help any suffering woman to the road of health and happiness."—Mrs. B. F. BRANNON, 404 Travis Ave., Mart, Texas.

WORLD'S LARGEST TELESCOPE BUILT AT OHIO WESLEYAN

Delaware, Ohio, May 1—Perkins Observatory at Ohio Wesleyan University, which will house the third largest telescope in the world, is being built mostly with the life savings of Hiram M. Perkins, an obscure college professor.

Professor Perkins' salary never was more than $1,800 a year, but by keen business sagacity and fortunate investments, he accumulated $300,000, every cent of which he gave to Ohio Wesleyan. He taught in the institution for more than half a century.

The professor did not live to see his life's dream realized, as he died at the age of 91, several months ago.

Perkins' telescope will be a sixty-one-inch reflecting one, and workmen are completing the metal cap for the building which will completely enclose it.

Work on the sixty-one-inch mirror is well under way, and the telescope mounting has been ready for several weeks.

The steel top for the telescope dome weighs 168 tons, mounted on wheels so that it will revolve on a circular track.

Directly below it, the telescope itself will be placed on a four-hundred-and-sixty-ton concrete pier, which forms the base of the dome.

The total weight of the instrument will be 37 tons and the mirror will add a weight of 2,700 pounds. Despite its great weight, the telescope will be so delicately balanced that it will require only the same amount of current necessary for an electric lamp when in use.

Four motors, three of which are in the clock—one for winding, one for accelerating and one for quick motion—will be used in operating the telescope. The fourth motor is mounted in the telescope proper and moves the tube from north to south. The telescope contains 6,850 parts, varying in weight from .006 of an ounce to 6,700 pounds.

The telescope will make visible to the eye stars of the eighteenth magnitude, and make possible photographs of stars of the nineteenth and possibly the twentieth magnitude, according to Ohio Wesleyan astronomers.

It is estimated more than one billion stars will be visible in this telescope.

MACDONALD CABINET IS NOW IN STRONGER POSITION IS BELIEF

London, May 1—The friendly reception of the labor government's first budget placed the MacDonald cabinet in a stronger position today.

The only fly in the ointment was the announcement that the McKenna duties, protecting British manufacturers of musical instruments, clocks and films, would be lifted August 1, allowing free influx of foreign goods.

Leaders of both the labor and liberal parties said they were well pleased with the budget, the liberals claiming it is a sign that the laborites are willing to cooperate with them.

The Daily News declared that the cordial reception of the budget had postponed the possibility of an immediate general election.

Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, who drew up the budget, proved himself an economist of the first order as well as an astute politician. Former Premier Asquith's endorsement of the budget indicates the liberals and laborites will cooperate in passing it in the house of commons.

Leaders of the liberal party meet this afternoon to decide upon a definite policy while the Tories will meet tomorrow.

MONEY AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments

IF SAFETY IS THE FIRST CONSIDERATION IN BANKING YOUR MONEY, YOU CAN USE A POSTAL SAVINGS BANK

The safest bank in the United States is the Postal Savings Bank.

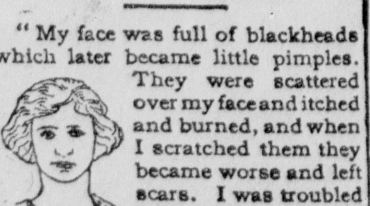

This might be the motto of the United States Postal Savings Depository, or the "Post Office bank" as it is popularly termed. The United States was practically the last to add the savings system to its postal facilities. It was established by "Act of Congress approved June 25, 1910," and the act explicitly guarantees the return of every deposit on demand. The credit of the government is behind these deposits.

When the great war was at its height and the property of enemy subjects was being attached on every side, thousands of people withdrew their deposits from the Postal Savings banks. But they soon found that a U. S. promise once made was inviolable, even in time of war, and the depositors came flocking back bringing with them hundreds of their friends as new depositors.

SCHOOL BOND ISSUE FAVORED
Cincinnati, May 1.—Bond issues totaling $283,000 for the erection of schools in villages outside of Cincinnati were passed by the voters. The only bond issue for schools in any district that was defeated was one in the North College Hill school district, where a bond issue for $42,000 for the erection of a new high school was defeated.

TROUBLED WITH ITCHY PIMPLES

Scattered Over Face. Cuticura Healed.

"My face was full of blackheads which later became little pimples. They were scattered over my face and neck and when I scratched them they became worse and left scars. I was troubled with them for about three or four months when I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. It helped me so I purchased more, and now I am completely healed." (Signed) Miss Esther L. Ball, Manitou Beach, Michigan.

THE HALF-TIME WIFE By VIOLET DARE

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

DUNCAN HALE, a young army officer, returns from the Philippines to find that

SUZANNE, with whom he is in love, has married

GEORGEY ATWOOD, a prominent man much older than she.

Hale tries to persuade her to leave her husband, get a divorce and marry him, feeling sure that she still cares for him. Suzanne is troubled by this, and by the report that there is a love affair between

DICK LEIGH, Georgey's nephew, and a chorus girl.

LINDA VALE, Atwood's secretary, introduces herself to Suzanne, and makes a determined effort to interfere between husband and wife.

At Dick's request, Suzanne gives a little party for the chorus girl, LOLITA. Mrs. Vale manages to be naked.

XV—ONE MORE REBUKE.

VIOLET DARE

In a small glass, that they were the most becoming things she had ever had on.

"They make me look so different—so much older," she explained to Anne. "I want to look blase and sophisticated, and I've never been able to manage it till now. Don't you love them?"

"Oh, they're gorgeous. And really awfully cheap—only two hundred and fifty dollars, and they're real crystal and jet. That's frightfully cheap."

"Yes, I suppose it is," Suzanne replied slowly. Before she married Georgey Atwood she had never had much money to spend without being questioned about it; her allowance was always checked up at the end of each month. And since marrying him she had felt that she had everything in the world, and had always had more than she wanted. But two hundred and fifty dollars—wasn't that a good deal?

"Of course it is; go ahead and take them quick. You know, Suzanne, if you're wise you'll dress well, no matter what else you do, for that husband of yours loves to see women well gowned. I never saw anything like him. He always knows what you have on. I've often teased him about his appreciation of women's clothes. And you've certainly noticed how well Mrs. Vale, his secretary, always dresses, haven't you? Personally, I think that's why he keeps her. Nobody can tell me that she's as useful to him as everybody says she is; he's too clever a man to lean on any woman to that extent."

She stopped suddenly; Suzanne's retort told her that Anne Graham had said more than she meant to. "But these things really are rather high, you know," she cut in, hoping Anne would think that the necklace had held her attention all the time.

"I really don't believe Geoff would want me to pay so much for them." "Oh, fiddsticks! Doesn't he give you an allowance? Never mind; don't answer—that's none of my business. But Georgey Atwood is one of the richest men in town, and if he can't afford to buy his wife the prettiest things I've ever seen her wear, why, I'll buy them for her myself."

"Oh, no—no!" exclaimed Suzanne. "I'll buy them; Anne, please! I needn't have hesitated, only—well, you know how a person sometimes has a sudden attack of economy."

"Don't ever have such attacks when you're buying something that's going to make you prettier for your husband to look at!" ordered Miss Graham, majestically. "Now come on; put your hat on again, and let's go to luncheon."

"Of course," reflected Suzanne, as she followed Anne out of the shop. "It isn't as if Geoff didn't have heaps of money; it isn't as if we were poor. And he does like me to look nice."

She was trying to keep her mind off Anne's remarks about Mrs. Vale's necklace. After all, why should Linda Vale be so all-important to Geoff. Anne had been quite right; a man as clever as he was didn't need a woman in his business as much as Mrs. Vale seemed to think Geoff needed her.

And that phone message—why hadn't Geoff written to her? "Perhaps he has!" The thought ran through her mind like an electric shock. She turned to Anne quickly.

"I don't believe I can lunch with you after all," she exclaimed. "I'll meet you later for the matinee, but I must rush home first; there's something awfully important that I've forgotten."

"Nonsense—you can phone about it," replied Anne, who was accustomed to having her own way about everything.

"Yes, I suppose I can," she answered. The housekeeper answered the telephone. Yes, there were letters. "Anything with my husband's name in the corner?" Suzanne asked eagerly. There was not. She turned to find Anne Graham standing close beside her. Anne must have heard.

"Geoff's coming tomorrow, but I thought I might have a note from him," she explained, as she turned away.
